

Ogden Swift Building Removal Action

Ogden, UT

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is conducting a removal action at the Ogden Swift Building. The building was used to store surplus military items and was leased out to a chemical manufacturer who went bankrupt. During Summer 2019 EPA's removal action consists of:

- Clearing safe pathways and work areas within the buildings.
- Removing large amounts of highly volatile and explosive chemicals found in the building
- Properly treating and/or disposing of hazardous materials found at the site.
- Maintaining a safe environment for workers and community members. EPA will monitor air quality throughout the removal action.

Visit EPA's website:

response.epa.gov/OgdenSwiftBuilding

Katherine Jenkins, EPA Community Involvement
Coordinator 1-800-227-8917, extension 312-6351.
jenkins.katherine@epa.gov

